IRISH PARLIAMENT IS SUMMONED

LABOR DEMANDS FOR THRESHING AT HIGH POINT

Belief Expressed That Sufficient Labor Will Be Diverted To All Points in N. D.

U. S. DIRECTOR IN THE CITY

Head of Employment Service Visits North Dakota to View Results of Work

Belief that there will be plenty of men to aid in threshing North Dakota's grain crops is expressed by Francis I Jones of Washington D C director general of the U S Employment Service who visited Bismarck this week, and John N Hagan commissioner of agriculture and labor in charge of the U S state employment offices

Reports to Mr Hagan's office showed that on Tuesday 118 men were sent out of the Fargo office to threshing jobs Minot called for from 300 to 500 men several days ago and latest reports said the need had about been met Yesterday the Bismarck office had caught up with the demand Harvest is in full swing now and the demand for labor will probably be at its highest this week The federal department has men stationed in Duluth and Minneapolis to direct workers to North Dakota and other fields and with available state workers and others following the harvest from South to North Dakota it is believed that the demand can be met

Demands From Northwest.

Probably the heaviest demand of any part of the state is the northwestern part where according to Mr Hagan the crop generally is almost equal to the 1915 crop unless the rust has done more damage than it is believed to have done Distance from the sources of supply of labor increases the problem of handling this section of the state

Field Worker A L Barkman who accompanied Mr Jones in the state visited all the offices in furtherance of the work Mr Jones visited the Fargo and Bismarck offices

Through the season the special labor division of the U S employment service under the direction of Mr Barkman has in co-operation with the various state departments of labor recruited and placed approximately 55,000 harvest hands from Texas to North Dakota Mr Jones said while here His department proposes open a permanent farm labor office at Kansas City Mo to operate for the benefit of the entire middlewest not only for the harvest season but during the entire year to stimulate a back to the farm movement in other seasons

Getting Full Value

Mr Jones expressed belief that the government was getting value received for money spent on employment service in North Dakota He praised the Fargo office as one of the best in the country and said that if Congress had made the appropriation large enough he would like to enlarge the employment service greatly in North Dakota as he felt much good was being accomplished

EDISON REBELS AT CIVILIZATION

Famous Inventor Says We're All Barbarians Underneath the Skin

By Edward Thierry.

In Camp via Oakland Md Aug 4 The woods will get you if you don't watch out

Stay out close to nature long enough and you won't want to come back to the civilizing influences of trolley cars telephones porcelain bathtubs and nickeled plumbing

That's Thomas A Edison's theory

Every man was down in his heart revolts at civilization said Edison in camp with Henry Ford and H S Firestone Every man will revert to barbarism if given half a chance

Turn a man loose in the woods and he won't want to come back after a while Man is like a domesticated animal I saw a dog revert to the wild life of his ancestors in exactly three days'

We don't live long enough to find out what life is all about he said But we know what civilization is It is a mere veneer that keeps on getting thicker—but never too thick to peel

It will be 1,000 years I think before man will have reached such a high point of civilization where he cannot and will not want to go back to the barbaric life

I have a friend down near Fort Myers my Florida home who took a Seminole boy out of the Everglades and gave him the best education possible Yet he slipped back into the life Natives in such places as Africa do the same thing very often in spite of missions

I like to get out in the woods and live close to nature Every man does It is in his blood It is his feeble protest against civilization

Edison's chief outdoor amusement is fishing

RULES FORMED FOR NEW PLAN OF LAND VALUE

Tax Commissioner Sets Out Methods to be Used in Classifying Lands

ACTS UNDER LAW OF 1921

Rules for the classification of lands for the purpose of taxation which must be done by the county commissioners under a law of the 1921 legislature upon petition of not less than fifty percent of the free-holders of acreage property have been compiled by Tax Commissioner George E Wallace

The commissioners may let contracts for the classification of the lands if demanded by the required number the tax commissioner says The board has power to divide a county into four parts for classification and separate contracts may be let

In making the classification the tax commissioner states some general rules as follows

Improvements shall not be taken into consideration in fixing values All acre property except that of common carriers shall be classified

The true value of the land should be reflected in the classification It is suggested a model 40 acre tract be used as a basis for fixing values

Fertility nature of the soil topography proximity to market percentage tillable accessibility to water in the case of grazing lands should be taken into consideration in arriving at values

Regarding the elements of value the rules of the tax commissioner say

In placing a valuation upon agricultural lands the classifier will take into consideration the following rules

The composition nature and fertility of the soil which will represent 70 percent of the total value of the land He will also take into consideration the topography of the land which will represent 20 percent of the value of the land he will also take into consideration proximity and accessibility to market which will represent 10 percent of the value of the land

In dealing with grazing land the classifier will take into consideration the soil productivity and accessibility to stock water Soil productivity will represent 70 percent of the value of grazing lands and accessibility to stock water will represent 30 percent of the value thereof

No counties so far as is known have yet taken steps toward classifying lands for taxation purposes

People From White Mountain Country Join to Cheer Chief Executive

Lancaster, N. H. Aug. 4.—Confidence that American institutions are more firmly implanted than ever before and that in the near future America's example will lead all the nations to permanent peace was expressed by President Harding today at a welcome demonstration here.

Thousands from other towns came in by automobiles and trains to swell the crowd that gathered in Central Square to cheer the chief executive and hear him deliver a short response It was arranged for him to speak without leaving the automobile and public officials planned if possible to spare him from shaking hands with the crowd

Before he came into Lancaster President Harding played a round of golf on a course improvised by members of the vacation party on the summit of Mount Prospect A silver cup has been purchased for the winner of the week's play over the course which covers only a small area but which has many obstacles in the form of huge rocks and underbrush

Although it was indicated before the president left Washington that a proclamation of peace with the Central Empires might be issued by him from Mount Prospect it is not now expected that the steps will be taken until the vacation is over

EXPENSES MUST BE CUT, MELLON WARNS CONGRESS

Secretary of the Treasury Declares That $250,000,000 Slice is Necessary

EXPENSES ARE $4,500,000,000

Result of Operations of First Full Month of Fiscal Year Reveals Situation

Washington, Aug 4 —A cut of more than $250,000,000 in the ordinary expenditures of the government this fiscal year is necessary if additional taxes are to be avoided, the house ways and means committee was informed today by Secretary Mellon On present estimates he said the total government costs this year will be $4,550,000,000 of which $4,830,000,000 must come from taxation

Even with the suggested reduction, Mr Mellon said, the internal revenue yield for the year "could not safely be permitted to fall below $4,570,000,000, the estimated yield under the existing law"

The treasury secretary told the committee that actual expenditures for the first full month of this fiscal year indicates that unless there was "an extraordinary new effort to reduce expenditures" the estimates which the treasury had presented might be regarded as consevative Ordinary expenditures for July, he said amounted to about $322,000,000 as against $307,000,000 for July 1920, while the current deficit last month was $113,000,000 as against $76,000,000 the same month a year ago

"An analysis of the principal items of expenditure for July, 1921," the secretary continued, "shows that $59,000,000 was on account of the war department, 56,000,000 on account of the navy and $32,000,000 on account of the shipping board. If expenditures are to continue at anything like these rates the estimates will be greatly exceeded"

MOTOR VEHICLE MONEY SOON TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Counties Will Receive Comparatively Small Portion of Total Amount

COLLECTIONS OVER $632,000

Counties will receive a portion of the license money collected by the Motor Vehicle Registration department during the first six months of 1919 for road maintenance in the near future it is expected

The amount to be distributed among the various counties of the state is said at the state auditor's office to be $88,620.50 out of a total of $632,241.00 collected between January 1 and June 30 The division must be approved by the state auditing board

The law provides that $150,000 of the money shall be deducted annually for highway commission and motor vehicle registration expenses and an appropriation of $175,000 was made by the legislature for bridges The remainder of the receipts is divided between the highway commission and the counties for road maintenance

There was some discussion among officials as to whether the amount of money to be deducted should be deducted entirely out of the funds on hand or whether part of the appropriations which are for the fiscal year from July 1 1921 to June 30 1922 should be deducted out of funds on hand and the remainder out of payments next year The state auditor took the position that the law required the entire deduction be made first and the full amount was set aside leaving according to the state auditor's figures $88,620.50 for counties and a like amount for the highway commission road work

ULSTER PREMIER ASKED TO COME TO CONFERENCE

Final Effort to Reach Peace Basis is Expected

CHANGE IN IRISH PLANS

De Valera Had Not Intended to Summon Full Parliament

Dublin Aug 4 (By Associated Press)—The Irish Republican Parliament has been summoned to meet Tuesday, Aug. 16, the Irish Bulletin, the official Republican organ announced last night. Notices have been sent to all the members of the parliament.

London Aug 4 (By the Associated Press)—The Irish situation took a sensational turn today when it was announced in Dublin that Eamonn De Valera and his associates had decided to summon a full meeting of the Irish Republican parliament to consider the British government's Irish peace proposals.

It has been repeatedly stated in Dublin that the Dail Eireann would not be summoned until Ulster's attitude had been learned but coincident with the calling of a meeting of this body came a conflicting report from Dublin and Belfast concerning Ulster's position

In Dublin it is reported that Ulster has been sounded and has returned an answer unfavorable to the Sinn Fein overtures while in Belfast after an important meeting of the cabinet it was authoritatively stated that the Ulster ministry had received no communication from Mr De Valera.

While these reports at first glance seem irreconcilable it is pointed out that possibly both may be correct The fact that the Ulster cabinet itself has not received a communication would not, it is noted, preclude the possibility of an informal discussion between the northern and southern leaders

INVITE ULSTER PREMIER.

A dispatch to the Evening News from Belfast today asserts that the Ulster cabinet at this morning's meeting discussed an invitation from the Dail Eireann to Sir John Craig, the Ulster premier, asking him to attend a conference in Dublin with a view to determine Ulster's attitude It adds that there is no possibility of another meeting between Sir James and Mr De Valera although the Ulster premier is to meet the Republican leader with Premier Lloyd George in London

Youthful President of Ford Company Tells Tribune Correspondent His Plans

By Edward Thierry

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—"Do it yourself—don't depend on others."

That is the business creed of Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford and the world's youngest man-with-the-biggest job.

This is the first intimate interview Edsel Ford has ever given. Edsel, not Henry is president of the Ford Motor Company. You have read much about Henry, the builder, but little about Edsel the man at the wheel.

"Edsel is the boss." Henry Ford had told me while he was camping with President Harding, Thomas Edison and H. S. Firestone. "No, I'm not even chairman of the company. I haven't got a job at all."

Resembles Father

Edsel is a quiet, serious-faced, serious-voiced young man. He is only 28. He looks like his father, with the same sharply chiseled face, quite thin, with dark complexion, smooth face, brown eyes and hair brushed straight back. He walks with a slight stoop and long strides like his father.

"Father put me through the mill," Edsel told me. "Now I'm at the wheel. I have been president two and a half years. It isn't an easy job.

"I realize my responsibilities—now, and in the future. The hardest part is finished. It is easier to run something that has been cranked and started and is running in high gear.

"The Ford interests have always been a one man proposition, and always will be.

"That's why father stepped out and let me steer. I'm playing his game—doing things myself when I want them done right.

Complete Industry

"I will not be satisfied until our plant is self-sufficient. We make nearly everything that goes into our cars and tractors. We will produce everything ourselves—except tires. We have good friends who make tires.

"Buying the Detroit Toledo & Ironton railroad was a step in that direction. The railroad was an adventure and it's beginning to be a profitable adventure.

"To get maximum efficiency we will make our own steel. We have our ore mines and blast furnaces and coal mines. And we are going into cotton."

To Cut Car Prices

Edsel sees an even lower priced car in the future. I asked him when reductions might come.

"Not now," he said. "But just wait a few years. We haven't got automobile-building down to the science we hope to have it. The bottom has not been hit yet.

"Economy in production is the big thing. That means do everything yourself. That's what we're doing.

"So far we have made 5,200,000 cars! And right now production is ahead of all records. I'm proud of that—as president of the company.

4350 Cars a Day

"This month we are making 4350 cars a day. And we are doing it with 15,000 fewer men than it required to turn out 3800 cars a day last year. Then we had 55,000 men.

"When we made out our schedule of what we wanted to produce we had that many men to draw on. And we found—by close application of economy and system—that we could do the work with 40,000 men.

"No, we are not speeding up the men. I think the secret is thae everybody is over the hysteria of abnormal prosperity. We all have our hearts in our work.

"We are on a sounder basis now. Everybody is. That's why we weathered what many people thought was a storm. We got along without Wall Street's money—and if Wall Street thinks we put one over on them I'm glad of it.

Building Speed Boat

"The motor car isn't the only thing that keeps me busy. There is the tractor. And the gasoline trolley.

"And a new speed boat we are building. We are using deraluminum, the German metal, in the speed boat, which will have 1400 horsepower. It will be 32 feet long and go 60 miles an hour.

"We are experimenting a lot with deraluminum now that we can make it in this country under an arrangement with the alien property custodian. It is lighter, and it has the good qualities of steel and iron, though aluminum is the basis. Eventually it may solve motor car problems.

"Father hasn't given up the gasoline trolley car. It has been dormant some time, but recently we ran one down the D., T. & I. to Springfield. We believe it will solve many traction problems."

LANDIS ISSUES LABOR TENETS

Chicago Judge Lays Down Principles For Ending Building Trades Disputes

BY R. J. GIBBONS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Federal Judge Kneeshaw Mountain Landis has laid down a set of business principles for the building construction industry.

His tenets are expected to form a country-wide basis for settling building trades wage disputes.

After shooing crookedness out of baseball, the jurist was called upon to adjust the notoriously evil building trades situation in Chicago.

He seized the opportunity to take graft out of home building—a task that three federal juries, a special county grand jury, and the Dailey Building Commission had long labored at and without success.

And now it looks as though his "common sense arbitration" is about to meet with favor.

Here are the principles which Judge Landis drew up and insisted must underlie any and all working agreements between the Chicago Building Trades Council and the two employers' associations:

Article 1.

Monopolistic elements of associations or unions are intolerable unless:

(1) The public is served more economically with them than without them.

(2) Unless anyone qualified may join them without hindrance or discrimination.

(3) Unless they serve any one on demand without discrimination.

(4) Unless sufficient apprentices be taught to supply enough skillful managers and workers.

(5) Unless working rules and conditions eliminate waste of time, effort and material; increase quality and quantity of product; encourage improved methods, materials and appliances; produce increased skill and contentment of the workers, and help to preserve peace in the community.

Article 2.

Other things being equal, trades should have higher wages or wages above the average.

(1) If the work is more hazardous.

(2) Ig greater skill is required.

(3) If a longer term of apprenticeship is required to become proficient.

(4) If the work is intermittent or unsteady due to weather or seasonable demand.

Article 3.

Other things being equal, trades having rules or conditions that produce or permit waste should have a lower wage, or a wage lower than the average rate.

(1) Rules that limit or curtail in any way the amount of work per man consistent with reasonable comfort and well being.

(2) Rules that require ordinary travel to and from the job to be on employers' time, or otherwise waste time paid for.

(3) Rules that require skilled men or high rate men to do work that less skilled or lower rate men could do, or that other trades could do more economically.

(4) Rules that expressly or by inference interfere with the manager or foreman in the dispatch of the work or the use of new and improved methods, materials, or appliances.

(5) Rules that require work to be done by hand that could be better or more economically done by machinery, tools, or other improved appliances.

(6) Rules that require work to be done on the building that could be better or more economically done in the shop.

(7) Rules requiring excessive rates for overtime, or overtime waits for shift work.

PRODUCTION OF CHEESE FALLS IN MINNESOTA

Insufficient Pasture Said Cause of Decrease

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 3.—Minnesota's 87 cheese factories produced 7,847,798 pounds of cheese during the year ending June 30, last, for which the manufacturers received $1,973,818.36, or an average price of 25.15 cents the pound, according to a report completed by Mrs. M. J. Davis, statistician in the office of Chris Heen, state dairy and food commissioner. This is a decrease over the production in 1919 when 8,452,094 pounds were manufactured for which the manufacturers received $2,909,852.09.

Insufficient pasture due to the extended dry spell experienced last summer is given as the cause for the smaller production, according to Mr. Heen. However, the production for 1921 will exceed that of 1919, Mr. Heen propsesied.

The cost of running the 87 cheese factories in the state, according to the report, was $306,260.35. The factories for the most part are located in Dodge, Olmstead, and Goodhue counties, while there are several factories in Wadena county which manufacture brick cheese exclusively. One factory manufacturing brick cheese is reported in Benton county.

The 2,294 patrons serving these factories furnished 83,613,375 pounds of milk for which they received $1,732,515.91 or an average of $2.07 the hundred-weight for milk. These patrons, the report shows, milked 24,185 cows.

Of the total number of cheese factories in the state, 69 are co-operative, 16 independent and two centralizing plants.

LETTER TAX TO GO THROUGH

Measure Favored By Harding Would Raise $70,000,000 Revenue in Year

BY HARRY HUNT

Washington, Aug. 3.—The extremity to which congress is forced in its search for new sources of revenue is illustrated by the proposal, sanctioned by President Harding, that letter postage be increased from 2 cents to 3 cents, the proceeds from the increase to be turned into the treasury as general revnue.

It now seems certain that this letter tax will be included in the new revenue bill.

Between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000 annually would be raised by this letter tax, with practically no additional expense for collection.

While the president has indicated he favors the higher letter postage as an equitable means of helping to prevent a deficit in the Postoffice Department due to increasing losses in parcel post business, the Postoffice Department disclaims responsibility for or interest in the proposed increase.

The extent to which postal revenues have been shrinking is indicated by reports from the 50 largest cities for the month of June.

Chicago's postal revenue for June was $68,000 behind June, 1920. Philadelphia showed a shrinkage of $131,000, Cleveland of $70,000, Brooklyn of $71,000, Pittsburg $41,000, Buffalo $32,000, Akron $35,000 and St. Paul $30,000.

New York City in June showed an increase, but the gain there was more than offset by losses elsewhere.

It is understood a postal deficit of close to $40,000,000 will be reported for the present fiscal year. The deficit for the fiscal year 1920, reported last December, was $17,270,482.

WEATHER GOOD IN NORTHWEST FOR HARVEST

Cutting of Wheat is Completed in Many Parts of the Northwest

The weekly crop report of Van Dusen-Harrington Company grain commission merchants of Minneapolis dated Aug 2 says

The weather has been favorable the past week for harvest in the Northwest The cutting of wheat and flax has been completed except in the northern districts where it will not be finished for two weeks or more

Recent rains have helped the late wheat especially in Montana and Northwestern North Dakota While the entire territory is very spotted there will be some good yields of wheat in places It is impossible to get an accurate estimate of averages at the present time owing to the great variation of the crops The general run of wheat will be high but the quality should be good

Threshing is progressing through out the southern half of the territory and our reports indicate that returns are a little better than expected

Black rust has been quite general in most of the fields of late wheat in North Dakota It developed so slowly that we believe only a medium amount of damage has been caused by it We find that much of the surposed damage from rust is really due to blight and heat

As reported in our previous letters the crops of barley and oats are light They were badly affected by heat and are of light weight We have had a few reports of good yields ranging from 40 to 50 bushels of oats to the acre These however are the exception

The corn crop is developing very favorably Recent rains have helped it and the ears are filling exceptionally well If this crop is not damaged by early frosts it will be probably one the largest ever raised in the Northwest The favorable conditions extend into parts of North Dakota where corn is not usually successful and some of the northern districts that have never shipped out corn before may do it this year

Our late reports on flax are not very favorable The early sown fields in places where it is fair to good sown on old ground the fields are extremely uneven in growth and have wilted several of the prospective yields who have covered N D and recently were very promising at the early July date

AIR CHIEF SAYS WARSHIP RULES

Warns Against Accepting Airplane as Supreme on Sea

By North Quinn

Washington Aug 4 If you took Jack Dempsey's hands behind him you could knock him out But that wouldn't make you a heavyweight champion

That's Captain William A Moffett's stand on the recent airplane-vs-battleship bombing experiments in which several former German vessels were sent to the bottom under a rain of aerial bombs

Moffett has just been named chief of the aeronautic division of the United States navy and will be promoted to rear admiral He is a recognized aviation authority and was an eye-witness of the bombing test He maintains

THAT the battleship or capital ship is still the determining factor in sea battles

THAT the airplane and submarine in their present stage of development are only aids to warfare

THAT land airplanes are effective in attacking battleships within miles of the coast

THAT mother ships carrying planes ready for flight will be a big factor in future naval battles

The sinking of the Ostfriesland (a former German battleship) by 1000 and 2000 pound bombs miles from land was a preliminary that reflected great credit on the air service Captain Moffett said

The successful carrying out of this operation showed a thorough preparation, high morale

Airplanes Limit

However that airplanes are in the air only from four to five hours limits their action is confined to comparatively small areas

This fact emphasizes the need of aircraft carriers to carry the planes so that this important arm of the service may be worth while far to sea

With the development of the battleship and the factor that has stalled battleship wars and [illegible]

TENANCY INCREASE ON FARM IS DISCUSSED BY RESERVE BOARD

A supplement to the 78th report of the Federal Reserve Agent at Minneapolis on the subject of farm tenancy, says

There has been a substantial increase in the number of farms in the four important states of this district during the last ten years, but unfortunately the number of tenants has shown a much greater proportionate increase during the same period According to figures recently published by the Federal Bureau of the Census for the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana, there were 389 500 farms in 1920 or an increase of more than 16 per cent over 1910 The number of farms in Montana doubled in the ten-year period while Minnesota had a 14 per cent increase, North Dakota a 4 per cent increase, and South Dakota a decrease of 3 per cent In each of the four states there has been a decrease in the percentage of farms operated by their owners, and for the total of the four states the percentage declined from 79 7 to 73 8 per cent The number of farms operated by managers is about one per cent in each state and the proportion of farms operated by tenants, has risen from 19 5 in 1910 to 25 1 per cent of the total in 1920 In other words, the proportion of farms operated by tenants has increased 28 per cent from 1910 to 1920 This increase is largest in North Dakota (79 per cent) and smallest in Minnesota (18 per cent)

The number of new farms added during the ten-year period totaled 55 000 whereas the increase in farms operated by their owners was 21 000 and the increase in farms operated by tenants was 33,000 This is merely another way of stating that there has been a significant increase in tenancy in these four states

From a recent investigation made by this bank, it appears that the great majority of rented farms are rented on a grain-share basis In North Dakota 94 per cent of the rented farms are on this basis, in Montana, 88 per cent, in South Dakota, 85 per cent, and in Minnesota, 71 per cent The farmer who has been renting on a cash basis has experienced a reduction of rents between 1920 and 1921 in Minnesota, South Dakota and Montana but in North Dakota the average rent paid increased this year over last In the states where the average cash rent has decreased, the rentals charged are still about 40 per cent higher than in 1914 The experience of the farmers with declining values of farm products during the past year has caused a large proportion of farmers who had been renting on a cash basis to change, when permitted, to a grain share basis, but few farmers have grown discouraged to the extent that they have given up their farms entirely

Backache is one of the most common symptoms of a displacement or derangement of the female system No woman should make the mistake of trying to overcome it by heroic endurance, but profit by Mrs Taylor's experience and try Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

AN EVIL THOUGHT

Toronto landlords are charging prospective tenants $2 for the privilege of looking at apartments. And they don't apply the $2 on the rent, if the apartment is taken, either.

Probably the only reason American landlords are not doing this is because they haven't thought of it.

They will probably start now, only the fee for looking will be five dollars instead of two.

DETAILS

A tiny nut, on the rail of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, wrecked a passenger train.

Yet every day we hear this: "I just can't bother about the details. I let them take care of themselves."

Details are essential. And if you haven't someone to look after them for you, you must look after them yourself.

SUCCESS

If an epitaph be written on John Wanamaker's tombstone, he wants it to read something like this, "This man knew how to advertise."

To advertising intelligently and persistently the famous merchant attributes a large part of his success.

He started early. The first day he was in business as a storekeeper he took in $24.67—and straightway spent $24 of it for advertising. "The best investment I ever made," he says.

RIGHT!

Hoover's answer to Russia's plea that we help feed her starving millions should meet the approval of the American public. It is a real American answer.

"Yes, we'll do our share willingly and gladly but you must come with clean hands; release all American prisoners who are starving in Russian prisons, guarantee the safety and liberty of action of our relief agents and give us assurances that the food and supplies we contribute will be used as we direct."

WOMEN FARMERS

In line with the influx of women into men's work in the cities, it is interesting to note that women in far larger numbers are taking up farming. Census bureau reports show that 261,553 women today are operating farms, totaling 25,798,400 acres and averaging 98.6 acres to the farm.

Percentage of farms operated by women in the states varied from 1.9 per cent of the whole in Nebraska to 7.2 per cent in Rhode Island.

BANISH FEAR

The weakest of fears will, if brooded over and thought upon, become a giant. The end is disaster.

A Brooklyn woman kills herself because afraid of lightning. To many this seems strange. Yet perhaps some of us have fears that would have seemed as strange to her.

Banish fear from your mind when it first comes; later it may become your master.

And always remember, "a coward dies a thousand deaths; a brave man scarcely one."

REPUTATION

Chicago police went only in squads, heavily armed; when they sought "Terrible Tommy" O'Connor, wanted in connection with three murders and many robberies.

They knew his reputation.

A. B. Legg, Pullman porter, didn't. When O'Connor, waving two guns, tried to hold up Legg's car near St. Paul, the unarmed negro mixed with him and tossed "Terrible Tommy" off the train so violently that the desperado didn't have enough strength to resist arrest when the train was stopped.

CARRIERS

Senator King wants work stopped on six battleships; and two cruisers now building converted into airplane carriers. He bases his Senate resolution on the recent airplane-battleship tests off the Atlantic coast.

According to the Senator these tests proved that battleships are obsolete.

Undoubtedly the tests proved that the air service is becoming an increasingly important factor in naval strength.

Both Great Britain and Japan recognized this long ago by incorporating airplane carriers in their building programs.

These carriers are ships of great speed and the largest of them, a Japanese carrier, has a capacity of 30 airplanes. In a fleet action, all other factors being equal, the advantage to a fleet with one or two such units is obvious.

Senator King is right in demanding airplane carriers for our navy, but not as substitutes for battleships.

UNAVOIDABLE

A Chicago judge advocates a course in matrimony for high school students.

Why not?

Comparatively few of us have a chance in after life to make use of calculus or Greek. But the problems of married life are escaped by few.

IMAGINATION

A frightened citizen of Muskogee, Okla., telephoned police that he saw a "big, black bear" in a cemetery.

Police advised him to take another look. He did so, and decided the "bear" was a large, shaggy dog.

This is a good illustration of how imagination distorts sight. Judges and lawyers are familiar with such cases. Look twice before you run.

FARM POWER

The farmers are coming into their own in Canada and it is predicted that in the not far distant future they will control the government of the dominion.

They already control in the province of Alberta and have just elected one of their own people premier of the province.

He's an honest-to-goodness dirt farmer, too. Began life as a farm laborer and has worked at his trade ever since.

STRAIGHT TALK

Secretary Hughes has gone Secretary Hoover one better in backing up the latter's demand that Russia release all American prisoners before we help feed her starving millions.

"There can be no thought of better relations between America and Russia so long as Americans are held prisoners without warrant of law or grounds for their detention," is the straight-from-the-shoulder way the secretary of state puts it.

Pussyfooting doesn't seem to be in this man Hughes' vocabulary.

CONSTANTINE

King Constantine tells his soldiers they are fighting their way to Constantinople to wrest St. Sophia's mosque from the Mohammedan Turks and again make a Christian church of it.

But Constantine knows very well that neither he nor any other Greek king will ever occupy the throne of the old Byzantine emperors at Constantinople.

He knows that the powers will insist on keeping the city that commands the trade routes to the east in the hands of a weak and easily controlled Turkish government.

The whole Greco-Turkish war is a giant political move on the part of Constantine to ingratiate himself with the Greek people by attacking their traditional foes.

Every Greek and Turkish soldier who has fallen in the campaign is a human sacrifice to Constantine's ambition.

WHY MEN FAIL

Men fail for various reasons, little and big

Most men fail because they are lazy.

To be lazy means—to be late, to be slovenly, to be a poor economist of time, to shirk responsibility.

It means to say of anything that is clamoring to be done: "No, I'm not going to do that, because it isn't my work."

Laziness is at the back of most of the lesser reasons for failure. The minor causes are derivatives from that one great major cause.

It is so easy to dream in the sun and let the world go by; to dawdle and procrastinate, till one wakes up—too late.

Late and lazy are, in fact, first cousins.

If you are late, you waste other people's time as well as your own.

Lazy people have all the time there is, and yet they haven't time to be polite. They disdain the forms of ceremony that sweeten life.

They are grouchy, surly, gruff. It pains them to be pleasant, to say thanks and to smile

Therefore they remain underlings.

There is plenty of room at the bottom for the boy who never has learned to be polite.

To be deferential is not to be servile. It is merely to be decently respectful.

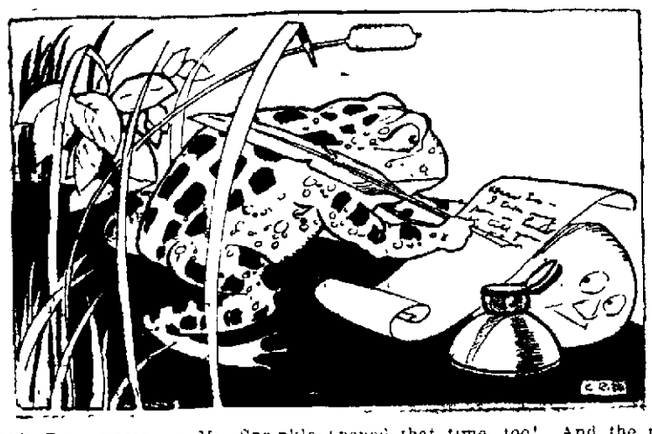
The bigger men are the most unassuming and the most unpresuming.

It is the insignificant people who fluff themselves up with a false and foolish pride and are forever orating from the flimsy and slippery platform of their own touchy dignity.

Failure is generally elective. It rests with the man himself to decide whether he cares enough for success to pay the price.—Philadelphia Ledger.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts



Phil Frog wrote to Mr Sprinkle-Blow, and this is what he said Nancy read the letter to the Weatherman.

"Dear Sir:—

"I take my pen in hand to tell you that did you know about Old Sizzly Dry Weather? Sizzly came three days ago and he's bragging that he's come to stay for a spell. He says that he has a right to, because the new moon has his corners up. Please, sir, will you please to turn Mr Moon's corners down if that's the reason Mr Sizzly is here. I've had to move four times in three days, and the last time I couldn't bring my children along. It was this way. Old Sizzly came along and huffed and puffed and blew his hot breath on our pool and first thing you know the water was all gone. Nothing left but mud and a puddle or two. No frog could live there, much less tadpole children.

"So we found a new place and took the kiddies and set up housekeeping all over again but the same thing happened that time, too! And the next, and the next'

"Last time, something extra terrible happened Mr. Sizzly blew his breath so hot and fast that there wasn't enough water left for our children to swim from the old house to the new one

"Tadpoles can't swim on mud because they have only tails and no feet So now they are down in a crack in the mud with only about a teaspoonful and a half of water, and Old Sizzly says it won't be long until he dries that up, too. He's dreadfully mean!

"Please tell me what to do, please, sir. I'll put a special stamp on this, so please hurry.

"Yours very hotly and dryly.

"Phil Frog.

"Nick," said Sprinkle-Blow, 'open the barrel marked. 'Regular Pourdowns,' at once. Nancy, take this key and let out Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning."

HISTORIC DAYS OF BISMARCK AND OLD WEST RECALLED BY OFFICER

Capt. Marcotte Tells of Old Fort Abraham Lincoln, Indian Fights and Trails

HELPED TO MAKE HISTORY

Capt. Henry Marcotte, U. S. A., retired, who served at old Fort Abraham Lincoln, and helped make history in the west, has described many historic events in a letter written to Frank L. Anders, of Fargo. Mr. Anders, who was born at the old fort, recently visited the Custer battlefield on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the famous fight. Capt. Marcotte's letter in part follows:

St. Augustine, Fla.,
Nov. 28, 1920.

My Dear Capt. Anders:

It has been my desire to have replied to your kind letter of Oct. 9, 1920, time and time again, but my age and indisposition has been the interrupter. It gave one great pleasure to read your commendable words, and to realize that one of North Dakota's old inhabitants remains unforgotten as is so kindly thought of by one who received life on the hill bearing the name of the immortal Abraham Lincoln. Gen. Wm P. Carlin was in command on the hill (which by the way was first named Ft. McKean for a most distinguished volunteer Civil War veteran from Pennsylvania). Col. John M. Poland commanded a 6th infantry company and went down and established a post at Standing Rock, since named Fort Yates, named for one of Custer's officers killed at the Little Big Horn

It may not be out of place to recall a bit of history at Ft. Lincoln The time of your swaddling clothes period, Bismarck had also just passed the transition from short to long pants During the former, the settlement had a Capitol hotel built in the fall of 1872 with store boxes and canvas. It had two stories. When one knocked on a door, every guest cried, "Come in." This and the sunrise salute of the has chopper added to the bang of hands on the poker tables of trump card players, and "Give us another, Proprietor," made things miserable for sleeping guests There was a drug and fancy goods store kept by Dr Lord and another noble man, both of whom gave their lives with Custer. There were several shacks where rum and cards were the principal commodities. Col. Lounsberry put us his cases and picked type and brought forth the Bismarck Tribune How it lived in a gathering of yahoos was a mystery, though I noticed in returning in the spring tour in the two years' recruiting tour in the states, that there was a marked improvement in the class of settlers.

I was recommended for retirement on account of wounds received in action in October, 1875, and left H Co to 2nd Lieut J M Burns, and a fine First Sergeant Nolan, Sergt Coleman and the twins. Charley and Jimmy Coleman and their mother

Visit "New City."

In December, 1872, Mrs. Carlin my wife and myself made an excursion to the "new city" to visit the Lord (and friends) Emporium and Capitol hotel An army wagon was fitted up with skins and three halves of pork barrels with hay a plenty for seats and foot warmers and with six dear little bits of mules with Private Moon mounted on the wheel one, the turn out started out over the ice to see the city for the (ladies) first time It was a great trip, though the mercury was in the teens below zero Those large panes of window glass in D Lord's Emporium created a sensation and only the blizzardy indication saved the remnants of my month's pay for the girls not only bought candy, scents, and things they had no use for, especially my wife who had not got so near to civilization in years and wanted style in advance of Godey's Magazine and post traders' "flop remnants" Those were the days when we had to burn lard oil to prevent fires and lived in tents while the post was being built It did not matter to the powers if the sun boiled and ice froze out on the trail, and Sioux attacks and the sometime visit of the pay master to vary the monotony Two or three steamboats a year would bring rotten vegetables apples etc and the sight of a new officer from the states with his bride in full anticipation of showing off her up-to-date goads and fixings in a West Point officer's quarters If she and her brand new sub secured part of a shack they were lucky These 'new ones' girls who had maids to serve them took their hall pork barrels and did their washings, cooked in camp kettles and in short order became veterans sharing the privations and adding to the joys of the post (and the increase of the roster) Scurvy, lack of vegetables and actual necessities never bothered the old time army girl, even to grabbing a rifle to aid against Indian attacks They took advantage of everything to break the monotony trying to keep a lard oil lamp and a green wood fire burning, and conjuring out palatable meals from some times rank foods and butter outranking the husband

Recalls Trail Days.

I enlisted the twins, Charley and James as drummer and fifer The trouble with the two boys was that they looked so much alike that one could not distinguish them apart, and whichever one was O. D orderly he had to carry his fife or drum to distinguish which was which They, like the whole family, were exemplary boys. I am hopeful of taking my wife on the old trail on the 50th anniversary of the Yellowstone Expedition and the 47th anniversary of my placing a stake marking the 235 miles from Ft A Lincoln at the Red River of the North, now Fargo, on Jan 8 1871 I staked the trail to enable the coming settlers to find the safe way Mrs. Marcotte accompanied me, being the first white woman to have journeyed from the Missouri river to Moorhead At that time headquarters for the N P Ry. on west bank of Red River of the North was in reality the only modern built house west of that river.

The mercury was 47 degrees below zero when I drove the stake between the tracks in front of the headquarters. There were two shacks in what is now a fine city I recall my visit in 1894, and was all swelled up to see the hundreds of manly men and their charmers who evidenced the growth of the "Banana Belt" so termed by Jay Cooke The only man there known to me was Edwards, who ran the Forum, whom I first met in Gen. John A. Logan's room in Washington, D. C I believe I have Edwards' card inscribed beautifully with the choice (poem) "He who don't toot his own horn shall not be tooted" Edwards' heart was as big as his body. I recall your visit with pleasure

I must crave indulgence in your trying to make out this stuff because us old fellows never know when to stop when started on the old trails Please give my best wishes to the Coleman family. I believe that though the press says the river at Bismarck is rising despite the 9 inches of ice, that it must be the "June rise" the Missouri steamboat captains were ever looking for to enable them to make the trip from Sioux City to Ft Abraham Lincoln in less than the 60 days and that Dakota's climate is trying to keep pace with the warm hearted settlers' descendants. It is gratifying to read your words that there "are people in this section who recall the events of the days before Fargo's advent and have a kind thought for those who uncomplainingly did their duty in extending the settlements of the glorious Union they had helped to save." Please commend me to them

Found Lignite Coal.

I recently read in the papers that coal was being profitably mined in North Dakota I sought and found the order directing me to take my Co H 17th Inft and "60 rounds" to a point dividing the Burnt Butte from the Heart Butte, where I found lignite coal and staked the spot. It burned but lost its commercial value when it required 20 soldiers to flank the diggers. "Young Man's Butte" is doubtless what we called "Heart Butte," and has an elevation according to Northern Pacific engineers of 1900 ft. We named it Crittenden's Butte" for our Colonel Thos. L. Crittenden, 17th Inft

Made Trail to Fort.

It was my good fortune to have made the trail from Ft Rice to the site of Ft Abraham Lincoln, which was 28 miles by the upper trail and 38 miles by the lower trails which was along the woods skirting the river The boatman made the river trail 25 miles when there was enough water to make the trip My dear boy accept my thanks for your digging me up and bringing back to my mind the privations and pleasures of the times when the Dakotas were unknown to the "Tenderfoot" Mrs Marcotte who shared in several Sioux attacks and lived in anxiety when the company was on the trail, sends her best wishes. Might be favored again?

Yours,
HENRY MARCOTTE,
(Late Capt 17th U S Inft Commanding Co H; Capt U S Army retired)

Beulah, N. D., Aug 4.—Atty Thorstein Hyland, who has been located at Mandan for the past three years, and who previous to that time was located at Stanton for a period of nearly ten years, has decided to locate in Beulah and will open offices here about the first of August. He has engaged the rooms over the Royal Barber shop and will establish his office there for the present. Atty. Hyland is one of the most competent and highly respected attorneys of the state and Beulah is indeed proud to number him among her citizens. Mrs Hyland will remain in Mandan until next spring when they will have a fine modern residence erected here. Atty. Hyland has found that the practice he receives from this community keeps him busy, most of the time and he comes here to be located more conveniently to his clientage. In conversation with this reporter he expressed the belief that Beulah was destined to become the leading town in this part of the state and that he believed in getting in on the ground floor. Tom is a mighty fine fellow and we know of no one whom we could more heartily welcome to Beulah."

RELIGION'S PART IN BIG WAR

Senior Chaplain Found That 90 per Cent of Fighters Were Men of Some Faith.

To those disputing souls who publicly lament that the average American lost what little religion he possessed during the trying days of 1917-18, Rev. Henry Russel Talbot, B. D., canon of the National Cathedral of Washington, D. C., makes answer. As senior chaplain of the embattled First Division, A. E. F., in the Argonne fighting, Dr. Talbot viewed a cross section of the country's manhood and found a religion that will puzzle and amaze the orthodox church-goer.

In his work, Dr. Talbot collected and examined the personal effects of men killed in battle. In ninety percent of them he found either a Bible, a scapular, a prayer book, a cross, a crucifix or some other token which, he says in a letter to national headquarters of the American Legion, proved that religion was a real element in the men's lives. And in those days, the former chaplain continues, the First was not carrying a single article it did not consider essential.

Admitting that the average American is "uncommonly timid in the exercise of his religion," Dr. Talbot declares that "nevertheless it is there and needs only to be cultivated and intelligently used." He summarizes his refutation of the assertion that the American soldier was an irreligious person by the statement: "If a simplicity which is elemental; a trust which is childlike although it expresses itself in what is called 'chance' or 'luck'; a sense of reverence which is so profound that it is never fooled by cant; an honesty which, while it is apt to be communistic is so essential that shams don't last—if these are notes of religion, there was in the spiritual life of the Expeditionary Force something that was fine."

DAN CUPID WAS ON THE JOB

Nebraska Legion Man Won Bride From Home When They Met in France.

They met in France. He was a soldier, she a canteen worker. The romance culminated as only a romance could culminate in the marriage recently of Frank B. O'Connell, department adjutant of the American Legion of Nebraska, and Miss Rachel N. Blodgett of Orleans, Nebraska. The wedding was at Orleans and the "vets" are now domiciled at Lincoln.

O'Connell, during the summer of 1918, served at Le Mons, where he edited a soldier newspaper. Miss Blodgett was stationed there as a canteen worker with the Y. M. C. A. They had known each other as children, but not seriously. They met at Sable. Cupid did the rest.

On his return from France, O'Connell became active in Legion work. He was the first commander of the Lincoln post and has been adjutant of the department since its organization. He is widely known among the Cornhusker Legionnaires.

WAR BROUGHT WORK FOR HER

Fargo (N. D.) Girl Found Plenty to Do During and After Big Conflict.

Maybe woman's place was in the home, but when America entered the World war, Miss Abbey N. Hurley, Fargo, N. D., was a clerk and stenographer in the district court of her county. Then the district clerk enlisted for service and Miss Hurley forsook the files and keys to help the deputy carry on the work.

Then the deputy enlisted—and the little stenographer carried on the work alone while she broke in a new deputy. She did the task so well that she was named deputy clerk herself in October, 1919, a position which she now holds.

DRUGGISTS OF STATE CHOOSE BIGELOW HEAD

Annual Session of Pharmacists Closes with Picnic at Fargo Today

Fargo Aug 4 D E Bigelow of Jamestown was elected president of the North Dakota Pharmaceutical association at their closing sessions yesterday afternoon Other officers named are W H Brock of Hebron first vice president Ray Stinson Fordville second vice president Prof W E Sudro of Fargo secretary R C Hanson of Pingree and L E Egbertson of Devils Lake on the executive committee and C W Bitner of Jamestown local secretary Jamestown will be host to the association at their 1922 convention

The association went on record as favoring the organization plans and resolutions put into effect in St Paul June 2 and 3 by the Northwestern Pharmaceutical bureau which consists of representatives from the seven states of North and South Dakota Minnesota Montana Iowa Nebraska and Wisconsin These resolutions and plans had to do with a uniform standards of requirements in professional practice of pharmacy

The report on these resolutions was given by Professor Sudro of the Agricultural college The main purpose of the bureau he said is to concentrate pharmaceutical activity of all kinds in the seven states in which it is interested The bureau also promotes legislation favoring the druggists

The convention held its annual banquet last evening in the Commercial club rooms and closed with an outing this morning in Oak Grove

MOSES LITTAUER, NATURIST!

URGE UNIFORM PRACTICE LAWS IN S. D. COURTS

Watertown S D August 4—Uniform laws governing trial courts in South Dakota to lessen the lawyers labor the third amendment to not total abolition of the mortgage registry tax law to avoid the abuses now practiced against short time loans and those expiring a few days after one year and the amendment of the state law so as to allow a reasonable compensation to be fixed by the court for the defense of paupers accused of criminal offenses were three of the needed legislative reforms suggested this morning by C L Jones of Parker in his presidential address before the South Dakota Bar Association in convention here

We have a law in this state President Jones declared that no foreign attorney shall practice in the courts here without associating himself with a resident attorney and then only by permission of the court A practice has been indulged in and is now growing whereby an attorney of a foreign state signs a name which is usually unintelligible and which is supposed to be the name of some attorney living in a remote part of the state to his papers as associated counsel or signs the name of a local attorney who never appears further in the matter

To combat this practice the speaker urged judges should insist that the local attorney appear and actually participate in all of the proceedings I have all the respect in the world he said for the attorneys of our sister states and of their opinions honesty and ability but I will not yield to them honesty ability and integrity above that of the lawyers of South Dakota

Mr Jones suggested the universal adoption of preventative measures in dealing with the increasing crime wave That crime is upon the increase he said none can deny One remedy which is being advocated and which I approve is a statute making it a felony for any person except peace officers while on duty to carry concealed upon their person a deadly weapon Another remedy is to curtail pardoning power and to abolish the parole systems

Assertions have been made and upon those assertions arguments produced that every man accused of crimes stands a fifty fifty chance of his acquittal but the trouble lies not with the law nor with the trial of the case in court but usually with the blunder of some police officer or with some sympathetic juror

It is true that our criminal procedure is slow is costly and is insufficient but a remedy if one comes at all must come from two sources First a training of men in the detection of crime and second a reformation along the line of our jury system

It is beyond my power to understand how a man is a fit and proper juror in a civil action involving many and different mathematical calculations who is unable to read and write and it is beyond my power of comprehension to understand how a man who has recently received punishment at the commissioner's hands is a proper juror to sit upon the trial of another and perhaps a similar case but such is the law with us

HALT ELECTION

Fargo Aug 4—Judge A T Cole in the Cass county district court today signed an order temporarily restraining the city from holding a special election called for Aug 16, to vote on an increase in the tax levy of 25 per cent on the combined tax levies of the city for the years 1918, 1919 and 1920

The action was instituted by Stewart Wilson, Fargo contractor, who claimed that the city has no right call an election for such a purpose, on the contention that the state legislature did not pass a law, nor did either body of the legislature have such a measure brought up before the assembly for reading known as house bill No 25, a provision which the city claims entitled it to call a special election to increase its levy

LIVE ON DOLLAR A WEEK!

It's Easy — Head of New Jersey Naturist Colony Shows You How

By Alice Robe

Plainfield N J Aug 4 —You can live all the complexities of modern existence behind

All you have to do is to promise to love—and obey two tenets of the Naturist Colony humanitarianism and vegetarianism

Moses Littauer who fled New York four years ago and built himself a dugout on Freedom Hill above Plainfield has been followed by naturists from New York and other places until today a colony of 60 are leading the back-to-nature existence in the wooded New Jersey tract

You'll find the naturistic existence not only simple but cheap A dollar a week is all it will cost you for board and keep!

Clothes—oh clothes don't worry the followers of the Naturist Colony

I found Moses Littauer naturistically clothed in a heavy suit of tan a biblical beard long flowing locks and B V D s

As we talked a mile child garbed in a pre fall of Eden costume strolled listlessly by

Littauer was preparing his noonday meal

The dollar a week menu consists he explained of a pound of raw oats a day (five cents) or a pound of corn meal a day (three and a half cents)

Littauer and his followers have a garden which they cultivate themselves

So if you don't care for raw oats as a steady diet all you have to do is to go into the garden and pull a nice raw parsnip or onion and chew it

Littauer points not only to himself but to his followers as a proof of the health giving properties of the humanitarian naturist life

Not even milk passes Littauer's lips

Dairy food comes from animal life I couldn't touch it he said.

Bare feet and no corsets characterize the feminine naturist Bobbed hair is disapproved by Littauer

Long hair he said attracts magnetic forces from Nature

"My motive in coming here and my ultimate plan" he repeated "Why just to lead and to help others to lead a natural life

PUBLISHER AND PREMIER

Battle Centers Around Disarmament—Fought in Papers and Parliament

By Milton Bronner

London, Aug 4—It's war to the death now between the two most influential men in the British empire—Lloyd George the premier and Lord Northcliffe, the publisher

Lord Northcliffe made Lloyd George premier

The question is can the publisher unmake the premier?

Millions there are in the British Isles who will bet he can

The issue will be decided either before or during the coming disarmament conference in Washington Lord Northcliffe is opposing the apparent intention of Lloyd George to attend this conference as the representative of Great Britain Of all the statesmen in Europe he is probably the most distrusted," the publisher says of the premier

Personal Affront

Whatever Lord Northcliffe had said through his papers and whatever Lloyd George had said in reply was regarded as merely differences on matters of public policy until the British embassy at Washington personally affronted Lord Northcliffe by withdrawing invitations to a dinner which it had planned to give for him

Premier Lloyd George (above) and Lord Northcliffe (center) are engaged in a political war that is rocking Great Britain Below is Lord Curzon British foreign minister who is mixed in and whom Northcliffe characterizes as Lloyd George's first footman

"This is a personal insult which Lord Northcliffe will exact retribution for it takes his last pound say close acquaintances of the publisher

They say Lloyd George has small chance of having any disarmament agreement which he enters into approved by the British Parliament so long as Lord Northcliffe battles against him

Not only that but they point out that if Lord Northcliffe should set out to wage war on Lloyd George in America he may go so far as to issue a paper regularly in Washington during the conferences

Lord Northcliffe has repeatedly said that the one way to bring about mutual understanding between the two nations is for each to read the other's publications And he has spent tens of thousands of pounds to encourage aviation hoping that some day he would be able to deliver his papers in New York on the same day on which they are issued in London

How It Started

Most people saw the conflict coming on shortly after the peace conference began to meet at Versailles The Northcliffe press criticized the prime minister because of the following things

The secrecy of the proceedings

The tender attitude toward the Bolshevik

The apparent failure to make Germany pay in full for the cost of the war

Nobody knew how these attacks were hurting the premier until he returned to London on April 16, 1919 and made an extended speech to the House of Commons explaining what had been done at Versailles In the course of this he made an attack upon Northcliffe Said the premier

"When a man is laboring under a keen sense of disappointment, however unjustified and however ridiculous the expectations may be, under those circumstances he is always apt to think the world is badly run

"When a man has deluded himself and all the people whom he ever permits to go near him, help him into the belief that he is the only man who can win the war, and he is waiting for the clamor of the multitude that is going to demand his presence there to direct the destinies of the world and there is not a whisper not a sound it is rather disappointing It is unnerving it is upsetting

"Then the war is won without him There must be something wrong Of course it must be the government Then, at any rate, he is the only man to make peace The only people who get near him tell him so constantly tell him so So he publishes his peace terms and he waits for the call It does not come"

As a matter of fact, Lloyd George largely owes his position to the Northcliffe press It was the expose of the British need for high explosive shells that was made by the Northcliffe press, and their demand that Lloyd George be made minister of munitions that gave the Welshman his big chance in the early years of the war

Also Northcliffe declined the premier's request to accept a position in the cabinet

Since Lloyd George's April, 1919 speech the Northcliffe press has not only unsparingly criticized his administrations but insisted he ought to follow a program the chief planks of which were

FIRST—The necessity for rigid economy in government and the cutting out of all waste This antiwaste campaign resulted in several smashing defeats for the government

SECOND—Settlement of the Irish question upon a basis of justice to Ireland

THIRD—The wisdom of standing by France and understanding her fear of German plans for the future

FOURTH—The vital necessity for the peace of the world that England and America should see eye to eye on such questions as disarmament and the problems arising out of the politics of the Pacific Ocean

LEGION MAN FED UP ON WAR

Veteran of the World and Other Conflicts Returns to Greece and Is Nabbed for Service.

John P. Poulos veteran of the World war and a member of Albert V Braden Post No 58 the American Legion Ishpeming, Mich., is getting tired of going to war every year or so He has the United States government at work trying to get a red chevron that will keep him out of battle long enough to at least recover his breath

John is a native of Athens, Greece When he came to this country his name was John Peter Coutsogiannopoulos On account of his great difficulty in making his intensive handle understood, he cut off several yards of it and became John P Poulos He was drafted for service with the Greek army during the first Balkan war. After being mustered out he emigrated to America and found employment in the copper mines of Michigan.

After a few years in this country he returned to Greece for a visit Greece was having another little scrap then and he was drafted for the second Balkan war He did his bit and left for America again America entered the war just after John got back and he enlisted for his third fling in the infantry He did it well, and after Uncle Sam had given him his discharge, he decided once more to visit Greece Result, he's in again!

This time the Greeks have drafted him for service against the Turks John recently appealed to his congressman, W Frank James of the Twelfth Michigan district opinion that he was fed up on wars and that he wanted to get out of the army and be married Mr James has taken up the case with the State department Poulos is a fully naturalized citizen but in the absence of treaty agreements between the United States and Greece his citizenship papers were not sufficient to prevent his being drafted

ALL LOST SIGHT IN THE WAR

Members of Evergreen Post, No. 5, American Legion, Eulogized by National Commander.

The spirit of the American Legion does not lag in the members of Evergreen post, No. 5, in spite of the fact that all of its members are men who lost their sight during the World war

When F W. Galbraith Jr, national commander heard of the formation of the post recently he immediately wrote a letter to Charles Frear, post commander Mr Galbraith intends to visit the post in the near future

The national commander's letter, in part follows

"I am touched beyond expression that these comrades of ours have seen fit to associate themselves together in affiliation with the great American Legion for the purpose of realizing more fully those ideals for which they fought It is an inspiration to know that scarred and maimed to an extent which would lead many to feel that to them there would be no further obligation to give to the world, but rather to live and receive, they still feel a desire to give something further of service to their country and community This is indeed true nobility
